

INTERNATIONALIZING CURRICULUM BY INCORPORATING ELT STRATEGIES AND STANDARDS IN CURRICULUM AND LESSON PLANNING

In the first hour of the workshop, participants will be introduced to a variety of free and open-source teaching resources. Next, participants will be introduced to the CEFR and we will discuss its relevance in curriculum planning. The next tool we will examine is the SWBAT model for creating flawless lesson objectives. In the culmination of the workshop, participants will bring together all of the skills by working in small groups to revise or create a lesson plan for a specific task related to a CEFR level. This lesson plan's SWBAT objective will target a specific CEFR level and incorporate one of the OER tools introduced in the workshop. Workshop will be run in English.

Target audience: undergraduate students of English Major, students from Licenciatura and tutors and instructors of Centro de Línguas, instructors of the Language Education Project. All those involved with language learning/teaching and technology are also welcome.

Participants should bring the following: paper, pen or pencil, laptop (optional) and lesson plan to revise (optional).
